

Position:

Web and Program Developer

Hiring Numbers:

1

Staff Type:

Administrative Staff - Office of Information System

Job Description:

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Codes, develops, and integrates websites and applications in the best and secure practice.
- Hands-on developer builds web-based applications,
- Work includes clarifying business requirements, developing technical scope, writing technical documentation, coding components, writing scripts, defining back-end database needs (definition and schemas), testing, implementation, and maintenance.
- Implement applications and websites, evaluate and integrate 3rd-party components and services, and employ a variety of approaches and technologies.
- Self-directed IT professional will work as an integral member of project teams, and work independently on smaller assignments, while contributing to the group's mission to help University business units communicate, conduct, and transact business on the Web.

QUALIFICATIONS:

- B.S./B.A. (computer science degree preferred).
- 4+ years progressive, hands-on development success.
- Experience building and maintaining static and database-driven websites, in a large, dynamic organization.
- Strong PHP/MySQL skills.
- Experience working on web project teams.
- Resolves day-to-day client issues and makes recommendations for usability and functional improvements to existing web sites.

Application Deadline:

Tuesday, December 5, 2017
